

5-07 Drive on Paris (1 June 23)

- 1) St. Avald should be St. Avold (49.17), Remieremont should be Remiremont (52.04), Vitry de Francois should be Vitry-le-Francois (33.09), Marche-en-Famene should be Marche-en-Famenne (34.26), Maastrich should be Maastricht (35.33), Fontainbleau should be Fontainebleau (18.01), Gebweiler should be Gebwiller (56.05), Kaiserlautern should be Kaiserslautern (56.22), Phillpeville should be Phillipeville (28.24).
- 2) Siege Guns are not eligible to advance after combat (even given their 0 combat strength and the series rule regarding 0 strength units), nor can they be put into Reserve.
- 3) Siege Guns do not pay the EZOC cost adjacent to enemy units (given that there must be a friendly unit in the hex as well to negate that EZOC).
- 4) The French Plan XVII VP hexes cannot be counted for German VPs, but can be counted for the French if captured at any time during turns 1-8 OR held at the end of the game (like any other VP hex).
- 5) "Infantry" for the German Forced March rule includes all the "other" infantry types (static, fortress, mountain infantry, assault infantry, naval infantry.).
- 6) HQs cannot be put into Reserve.
- 7) In any combat involving the British as attacker or defender apply the following:
 - On the Attack, give the British a +1 DRM to their roll on the Combat Table.
 - On Defense, give the British one column shift in their favor.
- 8) In scenario 5.2, Nancy is worth 5 VPs and hex 46.10 is worth 1 VP. The issue is that Nancy is hex 46.10. The 5 VPs are for the city, the 1 VP is for the mine. There is no need to separate the values, so just treat the hex as worth 6 VPs.
- 9) The French Doctrine Line (FDL) ceases to exist on Turn 15, regardless of what the situation is (or if the Germans have crossed the Panic Line).
- 10) The Foch effect on reconstitution is too narrow in the rule (2.6). The rule states "He applies his 1 rating as a modifier...". This statement is correct when Foch is AD-Foch, but not when he becomes C-n-C. A better wording is "He applies his rating as a modifier..."
- 11) HQs cannot refit or reconstitute in an EZOC.
