

A Frozen Hell (TCS #12) update for 4.0 rules

2.1 Artillery. Use the Commonwealth German line for Finnish artillery spotting (Row 4).

3.4 The 139th Tank Battalion.

If any company of the 139th Tank battalion fails its vehicle morale, mark all remaining units with a Withdrawal marker after they execute their normal SYRs. This company must fail from any implemented Op Sheet and execute failure instructions of moving into the 354th Artillery Security Zone. The company cannot write up a new Op Sheet or be added to a currently implemented Op Sheet until all surviving units begin the command phase within the 354th Artillery Security Zone.

[note: HQ tanks are now just normal tanks and have no special rules. In addition, the Bn HQ tank is not a part of any company and thus does not count towards Vehicle Morale if destroyed. Normal Multi-step Counter rules apply, see TCS 4.0 3.2]

4.2b Ambush [clarification]

In an Ambush there is no Final OW. The assaulting force automatically has the initiative throughout the combat. The modified firepower remains the same throughout the three rounds of firing. The defending units may not conduct a voluntary SYR. However, if the combat moves to the Assault Combat Table for resolution, use normal firepower values (i.e. not modified by the Ambush).
